TEXT A

A healthy teenager is a happy teenager

Teenagers who turn their backs on a healthy lifestyle and turn to drink, cigarettes and junk food are significantly unhappier than their healthier peers.

|---|--|----|
| 1 | New research also shows that 12-13 is a catalyst age when young people turn away from the healthy habits of their younger years and start to get involved in risky behaviours. | 5 |
| 2 | The research, which used information from the Understanding Society, a long-term study of 40 000 UK households funded by the Economic and Social Research Council (ESRC), looked at the response of 5 000 young people between the ages of 10-15 to questions about their health-related behaviour and level of happiness. | 10 |
| 3 | The results show that young people who never drank any alcohol were between four and six times more likely to have higher levels of happiness than those who reported any alcohol consumption. | 15 |
| 4 | Youth who smoked were about five times less likely to have high happiness scores compared to those who never smoked. Higher consumption of fruit and vegetables and lower consumption of crisps, sweets and fizzy drinks were both associated with high happiness. | 20 |
| 5 | The more hours of sport youth participated in per week the happier they were. Researchers at the Institute for Social and Economic Research at the University of Essex believe the data showed that unhealthy behaviours such as smoking, drinking alcohol and taking no exercise are closely linked to substantially lower happiness scores among teenagers, even if social-demographic factors such as gender, age, family income and parents' education are taken into account. | 25 |
| 6 | Twelve per cent of 13-15 year olds reported that they smoked compared with 2% of 10-12 year olds. The figures for alcohol consumption were even more striking with 8% of 10-12 year olds reporting having had an alcoholic drink in the last month rising to 41% amongst 13-15 year olds. | 30 |
| 7 | The research also showed that between the ages of 13-15, when young people are given more autonomy over their lifestyle choices, their food consumption becomes less healthy and their participation in exercise reduces. | 35 |

- | | | |
|----|--|----|
| 8 | Hobbies are important to offset academic and online pressures, so try to get them into a sport they like before the interest wanes around 14. Studies show that sport can reduce stress, promote friendship and teamwork, and even improve academic work. 'Psychologists suggest a hobby needs to be something you have engagement in – where you get so engrossed in it you forget your stresses,' says Nicole Morgan. 'Sport works well, and burying yourself in a book. There's evidence that teens who read for pleasure every day are more relaxed and do better in exams.' | 40 |
| 9 | Only 11% of those age 13-15 years reported consumption of 5 or more portions of fruit and vegetables per day and even amongst the 10-12 year olds less than a fifth reported eating fruit and vegetables 5 or more times per day. | 45 |
| 10 | Dr Cara Booker, one of the co-authors of the research said: "What this research shows us is that young people across the social spectrum are failing to eat healthy balanced diets and are starting to consume alcohol at a young age. This is storing up problems for later life, because we know that there are clear long links between health-related behaviours and well-being in adulthood. Helping young people to reduce damaging health choices as they start making independent decisions are important to reduce the number of adults at risk from chronic disease because of their low well-being and poor health-related behaviours." | 50 |

SECTION B: SUMMARYQUESTION 2

Your cousin is turning 21 this coming weekend. He would like to celebrate his birthday with friends and family at a steakhouse called Baron's Place. You decide to find out more about this restaurant. However, the reviews by some of the customers are not flattering.

Read the extract (TEXT C) below and write a list of SEVEN complaints mentioned in the review a customer wrote.

INSTRUCTIONS:

1. List SEVEN points in full sentences using NO MORE than 70 words.
2. Number your sentences from 1 to 7.
3. Write ONE point per sentence.
4. Use your own words as far as possible.
5. Indicate the number of words you have used in brackets at the end of your summary.

TEXT C

Baron's Place is not a Michelin-starred restaurant, but one expects some sort of standard when you go out to eat. Unfortunately, the standard at this restaurant was very poor.

We had to wait for several minutes to be greeted and seated. Finally a waitress came to us and asked: "How many?" Dumfounded by her unprofessional behaviour, we just followed her to a table.

The table was a very small square thing with not much space for anything and only about 20cm away from another table. We could hear the entire conversation that the other couple was having. The menu cards were absolutely disgusting. The foil was already peeling away and they were dirty and sticky. They looked more like the kiddies' menus.

Within 10 minutes of placing our order, our food arrived. Quick service? Not at all. My son specifically asked his steak to be medium done, but when it arrived, the fries and vegetables were literally soaked in blood on the plate. The meat was rare. He sent it back.

Even though it is a steakhouse and one expects to pay more, I do think that if I charge people quite a bit of money, you must give something in return. It was truly terrible. We should have stayed at home or opted for a take-away.
